2016: The year in review

This expanded annual report of the American Library in Paris covers activities and operations during 2016, a year marked most dramatically by the comprehensive transformation of the Library’s spaces during a four-month renovation stretching from May until the rentrée. This was the most extensive renovation of our premises in our half-century on rue du Général Camou.

A three-year planning process, including a successful “quiet” campaign to raise the necessary funds, culminated in a formal rethinking both of the Library’s physical plan and of its virtual offerings.

The renovation, supervised by architect Lia Kiladis and project manager Ed Aguila, the assistant director of the Library, included the following improvements:

- installing significantly larger windows in the façade, letting in more light and increasing our visibility;
- relocating the entrance and equipping it with an electronic gate;
- enclosing and refurbishing the principal reading room;
- rebuilding the mezzanine structure;
- creating entirely new program and study spaces on the lower level; and
- various other enhancements, such as installing the Library’s first elevator and adding a restroom on the lower level.

The virtual transformation included the addition of new electronic offerings, self-service kiosks for borrowing, and other new tools common to libraries keeping pace with the rapid evolution of access to information.

A small number of generous Library supporters, led by Edward and Mary Lee Turner and the Florence Gould Foundation, made possible this dramatic re-imagining of the Library.

Inside this annual report you will find a trove of data about the Library in its 96th year of service: our leadership, our finances, our membership, our programming, our special events, our children’s and teen activities, our volunteers, interns, institutional partners, and our donors. Throughout you can find images of the Library with its new look.

With new transitions and challenges ahead, and a centennial approaching in 2020, the American Library is as dynamic as ever in its history and enjoys a solid foundation for its future.

Simpson trial • Bruno Racine on his American mother’s life, recounted in La Voix de ma Mère • Word for Word performs stories by Emma Donoghue and Colm Tóibín • Isabel Wilkerson presents The Warmth of Other Suns: The Epic Story of America’s Great Migration • Chris Boïcos on Paul Klee’s exhibit at the Centre Pompidou • Joshua Hammer talks about his book The Bad-Ass Librarians of Timbuktu • Bloomsday 2017, a celebration of the work of James Joyce • Pulitzer Prize-winning novelist Jane Smiley presents her latest book, Golden Age • Anna Katharina Schaffner on the history of exhaustion • Luc Sante explores The Other Paris • A screening of the documentary Mona Lisa is Missing • Thad Carhart recounts his childhood in Finding Fontainebleau: An American Boy in France • Filmmaker Rita Coburn Whack screens her documentary Maya Angelou: And Still I Rise • Visiting Fellow Doug Dechow shares over a century of war correspondence from the Chapman University collection • Skip Moskey on his book Larz and Isabel Anderson: Wealth and Celebrity in the Golden Age • Anna Leahy and Doug Dechow explore the history of aircraft, from the Spruce Goose to the Concorde to the Space Shuttle • New Yorker writer Lauren Collins on her book When in French: Love in a Second Language • David Drake on Paris at War: 1939-1944 • Marta Zaraska’s Meathooked: The History and Science of Our 2.5-Million-Year Obsession with Meat • A screening of Very Semi-Serious, a documentary about the history of New Yorker cartoons • Caroline Brothers presents her novel The Memory Stones • Alice Kaplan discusses Looking for the Stranger: Albert Camus and the Life of a Literary Classic • A look at the Oscar Wilde exhibit at the Petit Palais, with Chris Boïcos • Photos of the Trump campaign by photographer Chris Morris • Jessica Levine explores Edith Wharton’s writing • Lauren Elkin on her book Flâneuse
The American Library in Paris Book Award

Gifts from 2012 through 2014 from the Florence Gould Foundation made possible the creation of The American Library in Paris Book Award, an outward sign of the Library's continuing commitment to outstanding writing that deepens and stimulates French-American understanding.

The literary prize and a $5,000 cash award go to the author of the most distinguished book of the year, written originally in English, whose subject matter is France and the French, or the longstanding and constantly evolving French-American encounter.

In 2016, the fourth year of the award, a screening committee reviewed 60 submissions and presented the jury with a shortlist of six outstanding titles. The 2016 jury, drawn from the Library's Writers Council and this year consisting of Laura Auricchio, Robert Harris, and Robert O. Paxton, selected The Burdens of Brotherhood: Jews and Muslims from North Africa to France, by Ethan B. Katz, as the winning book.

The other shortlisted titles were A Country Road, A Tree, by Jo Baker; At the Existentialist Café: Freedom, Being, and Apricot Cocktails, by Sarah Bakewell; The Bonjour Effect: The Secret Codes of French Conversation Revealed, by Julie Barlow and Jean-Benoît Nadeau; Paris at War: 1939-1944, by David Drake; and The Other Paris, by Luc Sante.

The ceremony to award the prize, on 3 November at the George C. Marshall Center in Paris, also benefited from the generous patronage of Judith Aubry, Peter and Jeanne Fellowes, Mary Duncan, Charles and Clydette de Groot, Diane Johnson, and Susan Mallory Kayat.

Members of the screening committee for the 2016 Book Award were Irina Boulin-Ghica Jacqueline Cessou, Jeanne Fellowes, Leslie de Galbert, Clydette de Groot, Brian Manning, Ann Morrison, Don Morrison, Charles Trueheart, and Usha Viswanathan. Alexandra Vangsnes was the Book Award Coordinator.
Visiting Fellowship

Gifts from The de Groot Foundation make possible the American Library in Paris Visiting Fellowship, consisting of a $5,000 stipend for a writer or scholar desiring to deepen his or her research on a French-related topic with a month in Paris.

Visiting Fellows also speak to Library audiences, conduct workshops for Library members, consult with Library staff about its collections, and engage in the life of the Library community.

In 2016, its fourth year, the Visiting Fellowship went to Megan Mayhew Bergman, a writer and teacher of fiction from Vermont, and Anna Leahy and Douglas Dechow of Chapman University.

Past Visiting Fellows of the Library are Anthony Flint, Ta-Nehisi Coates, Susan Hiner, and Lan Samantha Chang. The fall 2014 Visiting Fellow, Alex Danchev, passed away in 2016.

Book groups and workshops

Volunteer-led monthly book groups continued in 2016 to attract diverse and enthusiastic members, with returning groups discussing genres such as memoirs and mysteries and themes such as new French novels read in English, strangers in strange lands, the effects of the digital age, and the French-American encounter. New groups covered the U.S. Supreme Court, democracy, and other forms of government.

Book group leaders in 2016 were Janet Hulstrand, Anne Raynaud and Maureen Paget, Marjorie Lallemand, Leslie de Galbert and Clydette de Groot, Morgan Thomas, Gabrielle Cassavetti, Ed Turner, Mary Harries Magnusson, Deborah Singleton, Philippe Mélot, Maurice Lanman, and Laurie Calvet.

Library members were also offered workshops on wine, novel writing, how to write and edit for Wikipedia, theater techniques, and sustainable farming, along with a walking tour of American Revolution sites in Paris. These offerings were led by Mary Jo Padgett, Joshua Adler, Jessica Levine, Simón Hanukai, David Siefkin, Megan Mayhew Bergman, and Anna Leahy.
The Children’s and Teens' Services department organized 236 programs for ages 1 to 18. Regular Story Hours, Toddler Times, and Saturday activities remained extremely popular. Other events in 2016 included: book groups, poetry and writing workshops, magic classes, a Read-a-thon fundraiser, a monthly Teen Writing Group, and the Master Shot Film Club. Popular Friday Teen Nights included poetry, magic, writing, photography, and movies. The department also welcomed many guests in 2016 including YA author Amy Plum, Eric the Magician, Matt Black of Rock-U, and Jane Mobille.

Highlights of 2016:
- The Library once again teamed up with Gifted in France to host the Paris Spelling Bee.
- The Spring Egg-stravaganza was attended by capacity crowds, who came to enjoy stories and the chocolate egg hunt through the Library.
- The most popular Teen Night of the year, the 4th Annual Literary Reaping, was held in May. Teen lit fans faced an evening of challenges.
- The annual Young Authors Fiction Festival (YAFF) recognized the work of 400 writers.
- The Library and filmmaker Clarence Tokley hosted the first annual Paris Youth Film Showcase. Teens submitted their short films to a panel of judges and peers and prizes were awarded to the top films in four categories: editing, scriptwriting, audience favorite, and best short film.
- The Summer Reading Club for children and the Teen #10BookChallenge.
- The most popular event of the year was the Halloween Extravaganza. The Library welcomed over 500 people to four events throughout the day.
Public Programs & Outreach

In 2016 the Library hosted 71 speakers in our Evenings with an Author series, supported by Grow @ Annenberg at the Annenberg Foundation. Over 4000 people attended public programs, including over 230 events for children and teens.
