

The American Library in Paris

ESTABLISHED 1920

Engagement.

The American Library in Paris engages the mind. Our world-class collection of books, periodicals, and e-resources offers wide intellectual perspectives. Our speaker programs generate discussion and connection with award-winning writers, journalists, and thinkers.

The American Library engages the community. Through book groups, stimulating activities, and conversation we bring English speakers—both fluent and aspiring— together around ideas. Our just-launched sponsored membership program expands and enriches the Library community.

The American Library engages the future. Toddlers, kids, and teens flock to our programs. From weekly Story Hour for little ones to the Young Authors Fiction Festival for literary-minded youth, we instill a love of reading and writing in the next generation.

The American Library is engaged. Are you?

We depend on your support. All of this engagement happens because of you.
Please give generously.
