A summer of renewal and refurbishment

The Library is undertaking a dramatic rearrangement and renewal of its physical facilities and resources in the coming months — an effort to keep up with the evolving needs of our patrons.

By May, the children’s and youth library will be relocated to the two-level corner space in the rear of the Library, adding space for books and programs to this popular department and allowing a dedicated mezzanine corner for young adults.

By the rentrée, after a six-week summer closure, Library users will benefit from a new reference section, a new welcome and circulation desk, a conference room for meetings, book groups, and other gatherings, an enlarged principal reading and evening program room. The administrative offices will be refurbished and, depending on costs, the Library hopes to renovate its restrooms.

These renovations of the Library, which also will include recarpeting, relighting, and repainting, are made possible by anonymous gifts to the Library.

Peter Fellowes, a Library trustee who serves on the renovation task force, said “This overdue renewal of the Library’s physical spaces makes tangible the revitalization that’s already going on in other ways—in

Continued on page 3

Word for Word is back

The celebrated San Francisco troupe Word for Word returns to Paris on Saturday 2 April with a performance of Andrew Sean Greer’s New Yorker short story, “The Islanders,” a tale of two old friends confronting their pasts during a tour of Ireland. Greer, author of the novel The Story of a Marriage, will be attending the performance at the Salle Adyar, off Avenue Rapp, and all are invited to the Library afterwards for an informal reception.

Donations to benefit Word for Word and the Library are requested at the door, and reservations are essential for this popular annual attraction. Please telephone 01 53 59 12 60 or write rsvp@americanlibraryinparis.org

The 2011 gala: Scott Turow

Bestselling novelist Scott Turow will be the Library’s guest of honor and featured speaker at the annual gala dinner Tuesday 24 May at the Four Seasons Hotel George V. Please save the date!

Turow is the author of ten novels on legal themes, beginning with Presumed Innocent (1987) and most recently its sequel, Innocent. A practicing lawyer, he has also written books and articles on such issues as the death penalty, literacy, author’s rights, and politics in his native Chicago — and an early classic about the first year of law school, One L.

The gala is the Library’s principal fundraising event of the year, a soirée that gathers the Library family with many distinguished authors to celebrate books in a festive atmosphere — this year, with musical accompaniment from Yale University’s Redhot & Blue and a silent auction.

The Library’s current members and donors will receive printed invitations in early April, but reservations are already being accepted from all. For more information about Scott Turow and the gala, please visit our website.
Robert Darnton, University Librarian at Harvard and one of the leading academic gurus of the information revolution, offered words of reassurance at a recent Library forum about the future of the printed book – and even optimism that about the future of reading.

“Just as the radio did not kill the newspaper, television did not kill the radio, and the Internet did not kill television, I don’t believe that e-books will threaten the printed word,” Darnton said. “Thanks to technology, we can make books accessible to anyone who has the Internet. That, I find, is of staggering importance.”

All who responded to last year’s appeals for donations to the Library were invited to the January 6 event, “The Analog Book and the Digital Future,” which packed the reading room. Darnton spoke under the auspices of the Julia Peterson Dede Distinguished Visiting Library Fund.

His talk and visit to the Library was the subject of a short documentary segment televised on ARTE the following week. It is viewable on our website at http://www.americanlibraryinparis.org/library-blog/2011/01/from-gutenberg-to-google/.

A longtime professor of history at Princeton University, Darnton became the director of the university library system at Harvard in 2007. His academic specialties are the history of the book and the history of France. The Forbidden Best-Sellers of Pre-Revolutionary France won the National Book Critics Circle Award for criticism in 1995, and his essay collection The Great Cat Massacre and Other Episodes in French Cultural History became a popular bestseller. His latest work is The Case for Books: Past, Present, and Future, a collection of his New York Review of Books columns on the Google Book Settlement and other hot topics of the current debate over the future of the book and of reading.

The American Library in Paris, like all libraries, has a stake in this debate, and will be presenting programming on this theme periodically in the coming year.
A fiction festival for young authors

The American Library in Paris is proud to be the new organizer of the Young Authors Fiction Festival, this year in collaboration with the Society of Children’s Book Writers and Illustrators (SCBWI).

The Fiction Festival aims to strengthen community among English-speakers in the Paris area through the art and craft of storytelling.

It is open to all students ages 5 to 18 in the greater Paris area who write in English. It offers a wonderful opportunity for educators to encourage creative writing among their students. Deadline for submissions is midnight 1 April 2011.

If you or someone you know is interested in submitting a story, download the Festival guidelines as well as From Keyboard To Printed Page for tips on how to format your story from the Library’s website. The Young Authors Fiction Festival is absolutely free of charge to enter. Any questions? Contact the YAFF 2011 team at yaff2011alp@gmail.com

Please watch e-Libris and the Library website for updates on a brief suspension of youth operations in late April and for dates of the summer closure — probably beginning June 21. And thank you in advance for your patience during the travaux.

A 3-D architectural rendering of the lower level of the new children’s department (above) and a schematic design of the front of the Library after renovation, with a new reference section at left, a new conference room, and a new circulation desk.

New spaces in the old space

Continued from page 1

programming, membership, collections, outreach, and fundraising."

Consulting architect Lia Kiladis is working with Library staff and trustees on design elements and contracting issues. Ed Aguila, circulation manager, is the Library’s internal project coordinator. Kiladis and director Charles Trueheart will speak about the design and construction at the annual meeting of the Library on Tuesday 14 June.

Please watch e-Libris and the Library website for updates on a brief suspension of youth operations in late April and for dates of the summer closure — probably beginning June 21. And thank you in advance for your patience during the travaux.

Please welcome...

Celeste Rhoads, interim youth librarian since September, has assumed the position on a permanent basis. She succeeds Helen Stathopoulos Géhin, who has been appointed as an upper school librarian at Ecole Active Bilingue Jeanine Manuel. Rhoads will oversee all children and young adult services, collections, programs, and volunteers.

Amelia Carlin, a former university reference and research librarian in her native Australia and a Sunday reference desk volunteer since September, has just joined the Library staff as a collections and reference assistant. Between now and September, she will be working mainly on the major shifting of book and periodical collections to accommodate the reconfiguration of the Library after the renovation described separately in this issue.

Please welcome these outstanding new colleagues the next time you are in the Library.

A fiction festival for young authors

The American Library in Paris is proud to be the new organizer of the Young Authors Fiction Festival, this year in collaboration with the Society of Children’s Book Writers and Illustrators (SCBWI).

The Fiction Festival aims to strengthen community among English-speakers in the Paris area through the art and craft of storytelling.

It is open to all students ages 5 to 18 in the greater Paris area who write in English. It offers a wonderful opportunity for educators to encourage creative writing among their students. Deadline for submissions is midnight 1 April 2011.

If you or someone you know is interested in submitting a story, download the Festival guidelines as well as From Keyboard To Printed Page for tips on how to format your story from the Library’s website. The Young Authors Fiction Festival is absolutely free of charge to enter. Any questions? Contact the YAFF 2011 team at yaff2011alp@gmail.com

Please watch e-Libris and the Library website for updates on a brief suspension of youth operations in late April and for dates of the summer closure — probably beginning June 21. And thank you in advance for your patience during the travaux.

Please welcome...

Celeste Rhoads, interim youth librarian since September, has assumed the position on a permanent basis. She succeeds Helen Stathopoulos Géhin, who has been appointed as an upper school librarian at Ecole Active Bilingue Jeanine Manuel. Rhoads will oversee all children and young adult services, collections, programs, and volunteers.

Amelia Carlin, a former university reference and research librarian in her native Australia and a Sunday reference desk volunteer since September, has just joined the Library staff as a collections and reference assistant. Between now and September, she will be working mainly on the major shifting of book and periodical collections to accommodate the reconfiguration of the Library after the renovation described separately in this issue.

Please welcome these outstanding new colleagues the next time you are in the Library.
The Teen Scene

Complete Meditation
Ages 12+
Friday 4 March
19h00–21h00
Explore the power of meditation and relaxation during this workshop with Jay Bhosale.

Descriptive Writing
Ages 12+
Friday 11 March
19h00–21h00
Cathy Altman Nocquet returns with original exercises to help teens discover and develop their descriptive writing skills. Exploring their senses, they’ll find new, interesting words to make their writing more vivid and authentic.

Creative Writing with Tioka Tokedira
Ages 14+
Friday April 8
19h00-21h00
Tapping into difficult emotions is part of the honesty that makes for great writing.

Read With Sammy!
Ages 6+
Thursday 10 March
16h00-18h00
Sign up is required
Sammy, a certified therapy dog with BARK – Beach Animals Reading with Kids, absolutely loves to read! Bring in one of your favorite books to share or discover new ones at the Library.

All things green!
Ages 6+
Saturday 5 March
15h00-16h00
Wear something green in celebration of the Irish national holiday coming up on the 17th – St. Patrick’s Day! Enjoy fact, fiction and fun all about St. Patrick’s Day, shamrocks and other good luck charms as we explore stories of good fortune from Ireland and other parts of the world.

How to Eat Like a Child
Ages 6+
Saturday 26 March
15h00-16h00
The Library welcomes the American Children’s Theatre for a special musical performance from their spring show.

Creative Writing with Tioka Tokedira
Ages 14+
Friday April 8
19h00-21h00
Tapping into difficult emotions is part of the honesty that makes for great writing.

Boggle the Mind!
Ages 12+
Friday 15 April
19h00-21h00
A Teen Games Tournament: Scrabble and Boggle
Show off your master vocabulary and join us over games of Scrabble and Boggle. We’ll have plenty of snacks to feed your brain!

Silly Songs
All ages
Saturday 12 March
15h00-16h00
The Library welcomes back Matt Black. Many of the songs are childhood classics, but a few are Matt’s zany and original creations. These performances are always a big hit. Come sing along! Parents welcome!
All children’s and teen events are open unless otherwise noted. Please call the Library at 01 53 59 12 60 or email the youth librarian rhoads@americanlibraryinparis.org. Unless otherwise stated, all programs are free for library members and €9 for non-members.
The Library could not operate without the help of dozens of volunteers who work closely with staff to manage key services and programs. Here we highlight two of our wonderful volunteers.

Anne Hunt

Anne Hunt moved to Paris with her family in September 2009 and began volunteering at the Library a month later. “Walking in was like entering an Aladdin’s cave. The reception was so warm and friendly that I joined straightaway. I also enquired about volunteering and on mentioning that I’d worked in a library in England, I was taken straight down to meet Naida Kendrick Culshaw and was ‘hired’ on the spot.”

A former practicing lawyer in Britain, Anne works closely with development manager Sam Gardner and comes to the Library at least twice a week to work on event organization, donor relationship development, fundraising research and planned giving policy review, as well as working on development related events including the Gala. Sam says, “Anne’s enthusiasm, attention to detail and problem-solving make her a real asset and a joy to work with.”

“The Library and the wonderful warmth of the staff have been a lifeline,” Anne says. “Life as a trailing spouse in a new country was not easy. Once the initial excitement of being in this wonderful city has worn off, life as a perpetual and solitary tourist began to pall. As a volunteer, I enjoy contributing in my small way to something worthwhile and in return I get to enjoy the camaraderie of the dedicated staff and other volunteers, who make me feel valued. I cannot thank them enough.”

Anne enjoys spending Sunday mornings at the Edgar Quinet art market and this fall, she will study geology when she returns to England. We at the Library wish her the best of luck and thank her for all her hard work!

Jacqueline Nafziger

Known for her winning smile and hard work, Jacqueline Nafziger, a Frenchwoman who used to live in Chicago, has volunteered about eight hours a week at the Library for the past ten years. She greets members and visitors at the Welcome Desk on Tuesday mornings and prepares books to be added to the Library collection Wednesdays. Reference Librarian Kim Lê Minh says, “Jacqueline is a long-time, devoted, highly reliable volunteer, always willing to pitch in. I appreciate her earnestness and common sense.” Collection Manager Simon Gallo says, "We met Jacqueline at the Salon du Livre, where the Library had a stand. As far as I am concerned, Jacqueline is the best thing to come from our visits to the Salon."

When asked what she enjoys about the Library Jacqueline responds, "I like what I do and enjoy meeting people from many countries. Of course, I enjoy speaking English." In her spare time, she enjoys reading, listening to classical and jazz music, meeting friends for conversation in English. She also enjoys making jewelry.

We thank Jacqueline for her many years of service, with many more to come!
COMING ATTRACTIONS

The Library in bloom

The Library will welcome Catherine de Bourgoing, former director of the Musée de la Vie Romantique to speak about French romantic gardens. She is the curator of the Romantic French Garden exhibition at the Musée de la Vie Romantique, which runs from 8 March to 17 July.

We look forward to continuing our Evenings with Gardens series with Antoine Jacobsohn, potager du roi (head of the kitchen garden) at the Château de Versailles, on Wednesday 15 June, and Patrice Fustier of the Domaine de Courson on Wednesday 5 October.

Always be a poet, even in prose.
~Charles Baudelaire

The Library celebrates France’s poetry month with two events. First, writers featured in Parisian literary journal “Upstairs at Duroc” will present ways in which the infinite landscapes of oceans, islands, deserts, mountains, and city streets are transformed into the landscape of words. Next, Mary Jo Salter, poet, essayist, and professor at Johns Hopkins, presents her latest work A Phone Call to the Future.

The Library will welcome Tama Carroll to moderate a discussion with extracts from films based on Tennessee Williams’ plays: “Sweet Bird of Youth,” “The Night of the Iguana,” and “Suddenly Last Summer.” Judith Merians will continue her popular film series A Night at the Movies, showing the film adaptation of Williams’s play “A Streetcar Named Desire.” William Jay Smith, former Poet Laureate of the United States and a member of the Library Writers Council, will present excerpts from his forthcoming book, My Friend Tom: The Poet-Playwright Tennessee Williams.

Please see the calendar of events on page 8 for more information.
CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Tuesday 01 March 19h30
RISKING LIFE & LIBERTY: When Women Pursue Justice, an illustrated talk by Jane Weissman.

Wednesday 02 March 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Tilar J. Mazzeo on two French entrepreneuses - La Veuve Clicquot and Coco Chanel.

Wednesday 09 March 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Our series continues with author Catherine de Bourgoing, who will present an illustrated lecture on romantic gardens.

Thursday 10 March 19h30
Upstairs at Duroc@the Library
An evening of poetry to celebrate France's poetry month, Le Printemps des Poètes.

Tuesday 15 March 19h30
Tennessee Williams through Film
Beginning with “Sweet Bird of Youth,” Tama Carroll moderates a discussion with extracts of Tennessee Williams's classic plays brought to the screen.

Wednesday 16 March 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Laura Furman presents her new collection of stories, The Mother Who Stayed.

Tuesday 22 March 19h30
Screening of Eric Ellena and Berna Huebner's documentary I Remember When I Paint, narrated by Olivia de Havilland, about the benefits of arts for people with Alzheimer’s.

Wednesday 23 March 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Essayist and poet Mary Jo Salter presents her latest book, A Phone Call to the Future.

Wednesday 30 March 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Patrick Weil discusses immigration and French national identity.

Saturday 2 April 20h00
Word for Word performs “The Islanders” at Théâtre Adyar at 4, square Rapp with a reception to follow at the Library. Reservations recommended.

Tuesday 5 April 19h30
Tennessee Williams through Film
Tama Carroll explores Tennessee Williams's “Suddenly Last Summer.”

Wednesday 6 April 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Jennifer Butler presents James, Jennifer, Georgina, which was designed by Irma Boom.

Wednesday 13 April 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Marie de Hennezel presents The Warmth of the Heart Keeps the Body from Rusting.

Tuesday 26 April 19h30
Tennessee Williams through Film
Tama Carroll explores “The Night of the Iguana.”

Tuesday 3 May 19h30
Paris Art Studies @ the Library
Chris Boicos on Josephine and Eugénie, the two Empresses of Paris.

Wednesday 4 May 19h30
Evenings with an Author
Joe Ashby Porter on “The Case of the Two Mr. Porters.”

Tuesday 10 May 19h30
AAWE & MESSAGE @ The Library: A panel discussion about the transition from primaire (primary) school to college (middle) school.

Wednesday 11 May 19h30
Evening with an Expert
Scott Weber, director-general of Interpeace, discusses what happens after a war ends.

Tuesday 17 May 19h30
A Night at the Movies
Judith Merians presents Tennessee Williams’ "A Streetcar Named Desire."